MINISTRY OF SERVICE

REV. E. H. WILLISFORD PREACHES BACCALAUREATE SERMON AT HIGH SCHOOL

As the close of the High School approaches the interest deepens in the exercises that mark the final days of the year. Sunday night saw a large audience in the auditorium of the school to hear the baccalaureate sermon. Not a seat was vacant; the platform was filled and there were interested spectators in the lobbies. Principal G. U. Moyses presided. The services were opened by the school orchestra, which played Chopin's beautiful Nocturne, Opus 9, No. 2, with great taste and expression. The choir then sang "The Lord Is Mindful of His Own." The Rev. Dr. Mills of the Episcopal church gave an appropriate invocation. The Rev. E. E. Francis of the Christian church read the Scripture lesson from Matthew 20. Prayer was then offered by the Rev. Julius Soper of Casa Verdugo M. E. church. The choir sang Farmer's "Remember Thy Tender Mercies."

Taking as his text Matt. 28, "The Son of Man came not to be ministered unto but to minister and to give his life a ransom for the many," the Rev. E. H. Willisford explained the circumstances surrounding this statement of Christ—the request of the mother of James and John that her two sons might sit the one on his right hand and the other on his left when he should come into his kingdom. He explained that the conception this woman and even the rest of the disciples had of Christ's kingdom was that it would be an earthly dominion. Christ replied by asking "Are ye able to drink of the cup of which I must drink and to be baptized with the baptism wherewith I shall be baptized?" On their answering "We are able," Christ explained that they would indeed have to enter into all that their master must endure and that like him they must minister unto others and not expect to be ministered unto.

At this time, said the speaker, men's thoughts seem to be turning more and more to this idea of service. Public men all over the country are making the ministry of service their theme. Two statements regarding Christ show the nature of his work in this world and what must be the spirit of his followers. These are: "Jesus wept." Christ was intensely human. All things pertaining to humanity were of profound interest to him. The joys, the sorrows, and all the significant events of life deeply affected him. The other statement is, "He went about continually doing good." If no other description of Christ's work in this world were given us but these two sentences they would suffice to set before us the real nature of Christ's ministry on earth. We would have no difficulty in reconstructing the life of such a being and in realizing just what was the nature of the work he accomplished.

We are living in an age the tendency of which is to transmute the talents of men into the coin of the realm. All Christianity is a protest against this tendency. The history of the American people in the past is a protest against it. The men of the War of Independence, the men of 1812, the men of the Civil war, rose in protest against the idea that there was nothing in this world but what was material. Washington, Adams, Jefferson, Jackson, Lincoln saw something more in the world than materialism. They saw the need of the spirit of sacrifice and the ministry of service. When Lincoln signed his name to the Declaration of Emancipation he committed this country once for all to the cause of liberty.

The speaker went on to show the altruism of the United States in the war with Spain; in its handling of the Philippines, and of Cuba; in its disinterested work in the Boxer rising in China, when this country refused to accept one tael of compensation, which the other nations greedily exacted from the Chinese and giving back the money offered established the fund by means of which Chinese youths are now educated in the United States.

Dr. Willisford also gave numerous instances from modern American history of men who had given the work of their inventive genius to the world, refusing compensation of any kind. Patton, Babcock, Hughes of Iowa. In other fields Dr. Grenfell, the medical missionary of Labrador, and Dr. Livingstone, the African explorer. The speaker urged the young people going out into the world to take up this ministry of service. "The moral sense of the world needs you," he said. "Do not let debasing ideas of commercialism get hold of you." With numerous striking illustrations he illumined this subject, de-

PAGEANT OF PEACE

GREAT PRESENTATION ON PACIFIC AVENUE PLAYGROUND DREW LARGE CROWD

When the lights went out on the grand stand at Pacific Avenue playground Saturday night, and the gigantic spotlight was thrown on the arena on which was to be presented the allegorical peace romance, written by Herbert J. Blanchard, there was revealed a scene of fairylike beauty that immediately evoked tremendous applause from the vast crowd that was assembled to see the pageant.

Whatever may have been the ideas conceived by the audience of the scenes they were to view they were far exceeded by the reality. The large open space on the playground had been transformed into a classical arena. A long white colonnade was the scene in the background, wreathed with foliage and surrounded by trees, specially placed there for the occasion. Other groves of trees occupied the left of the vast open air stage. In the center was an altar, at the foot of which reclined the Fool, one of the principal characters in the play.

The drama opened with a song cycle sung by a group of ladies led by Mrs. Catherine Shank. The voices were beautifully trained and the harmony was perfect. Miss Ella Burns Warriner did effective accompaniment work here. The groups of children did excellent work in their hoop drills and in the various dances which symbolized various parts of the drama. In the special dances some very clever children performed. Particularly noticeable were Cornelia Wilson as Cupid; this little child kept perfect time to the music and entered into her part with a perfect conception of what it meant. In like manner Mia Marvin, a well-trained dancer of merit, portrayed the Spirit of Beauty; Lois Naudain the Spirit of Innocence, Lucille Nicholas and Regina Thommsend the Spirit of Youth, Ethel Murphy and Naomi Black and Lola Wilson, Pipes of Pan.

Edith Lindsay gave a fine exhibition of perfection in dancing, moving in that perfect abandon of a natural dancer carefully and successfully trained. For both her dances, The Spirit of Peace and the Greek Lad's Hunting dance, she deserved and received prolonged applause. Naomi Black as Spring and Marguerite Lafaye as Diana, the Huntress, did admirable work. It would be impossible to praise too highly the work done by Mrs. Wayland Brown in directing this large presentation. The children were admirably trained and the whole pageant worked out in perfect accord with the author's ideas. Eugene Parker, as the crier, read out the story of the drama from time to time, giving the audience a good idea of what was going on. Conspicuous throughout the whole of the presentation was Mrs. W. Herman West, who as Rumor flitted about from place to place, filling the whole large stage and giving a perfect conception of the character she represented.

Mrs. Mary Cable filled the part of Peace with great appropriateness. Claire T. Van Etten was an excellent Cosmos. H. P. Coker was a presentable Chaos. The other parts were well represented. Soldiers, Greek youths and the children of the grade and intermediate schools all showed up well. The audience was delighted with the whole pageant, which was a great success.

GLENDALE GARDEN SOCIETY

The officers and directors of the Glendale Garden society have been invited to spend this (Monday) evening at the residence of the president, Mrs. Nanno Woods, 1222 Milford street. A very enjoyable time is expected.

WEATHER FORECAST—Fair tonight and Tuesday; cloudy along the coast; westerly winds.

claring that in every business or profession the one who lost his life found it, and the one who sought to save his life lost it.

He urged the young people in the words of the anonymous poem, "What I Live For," to consecrate themselves to a life for,

"The cause that needs assistance, For the wrongs that need resistance, For the good that I can do."

As the class stood up to hear the concluding message of this excellent address the speaker urged them let no man turn them away from this ideal. "The world," he said, "does not need a bigger head, but a larger heart. Give to the world the best you have and the best will come back to you."

SERIOUS CONDITIONS ARISE IN MEXICO

WASHINGTON GOVERNMENT ADVISED THAT AMERICAN TROOPS MAY BE ATTACKED AT ANY MOMENT

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 12.—Conditions in Mexico have become so serious during the past few days that the administration is considering the advisability of finally calling the attention of Provisional President Carranza to the situation. Secretary Baker announced this morning that he had ordered 1000 additional coast artillerymen and engineers in Washington barracks, to patrol the Mexican border on account of the grave conditions prevailing there.

COMPLETE ROUT OF AUSTRIAN ARMIES

RUSSIANS CAPTURE TWO ENTIRE DIVISIONS WITH THEIR GENERALS, ARTILLERY AND AMMUNITION

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

LONDON, June 12.—Sweeping down on the Austrians in the Volhynia and Galicia regions the Russians, after a crushing artillery bombardment crumpled up the Teutons in a most astonishing manner after seven days' open fighting. The Austrian army is now in complete rout and the Russians are adding hourly to the immense total of prisoners captured by them. They have already taken 120,000 Austrians. They have captured two entire divisions, with all their generals, their ammunition trains and machine gun trains, their field artillery and their telegraph and kitchen outfits. This crushing of the Austrians is the biggest victory of the land fighting thus far in the war. The Cossacks are sweeping up the field in pursuit of the fleeing Austrians, who have abandoned their wounded in the precipitancy of their flight.

ITALIANS RESUME THE OFFENSIVE

VICTOR-EMMANUEL ORDERS GENERAL ADVANCE ON THE TRENTINO BORDER AGAINST AUSTRIANS

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

ROME, June 12.—Believing that the disaster that has befallen the Austrians on the Galician border affords an excellent opportunity to attack, the Italians have been ordered by King Victor-Emmanuel, after consultation with his military advisers, to make a general advance in the Trentino. The offensive has already been begun and is making considerable progress. The Austrians, it is believed, will be compelled to withdraw troops from the Italian border to meet the victorious Russians on the Roumanian and Galician boundaries.

FRENCH REPULSE GERMANS NEAR VAUX

VIOLENT TEUTON ATTACKS ON FRENCH TRENCHES FAIL AND ARE THROWN BACK WITH SEVERE LOSS

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

PARIS, June 12.—Violent German attacks were made this morning on the French trenches in the region west of Vaux. The Germans charged up to the French lines and in some cases penetrated them. Fierce hand-to-hand fighting ensued, resulting in the complete repulse of the Germans, who suffered enormously as they retreated.

JAPAN ORDERS MORE TROOPS TO CHINA

MIKADO'S GOVERNMENT SENDS TWO BATTALIONS OF INFANTRY TO TIENTSIN

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

TOKYO, June 12.—In order adequately to protect Japanese interests in Tientsin and its vicinity in view of the present unsettled condition of affairs there, consequent on the death of Yuan Shi Kai, late president of China and the accession of Li Yuan Hung, the present president, the emperor has ordered the dispatch of two battalions of infantry to Tientsin. There is much excitement in Peking over this news.

RUSSIAN SUCCESS GROWS IN MAGNITUDE

VICTORIOUS SLAYS ARE NOW CLOSE TO DUBNO, ONE OF THE GREAT VOLHYNIAN FORTRESSES

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

PETROGRAD, June 12.—Following up their successes in the Volhynian triangle the Russian troops have captured Damidovka, on the Mylnoff-Berestetchno road. All the Austrian troops in that quarter were caught like rats in a trap and were compelled to surrender. Damidovka is only fifteen miles west of Dubno and that great fortress is on the point of falling into the hands of the victorious Muscovites. The number of prisoners grows. This morning the Cossacks alone sent 10,000 captives to the rear.

WILLIAM H. ORPET'S FATHER ON THE STAND

WAUKEGAN, Ill., June 12.—The father of William H. Orpet, the young student accused of the murder of Marian Lambert, was closely questioned on the stand today. He constantly replied, "I don't remember."

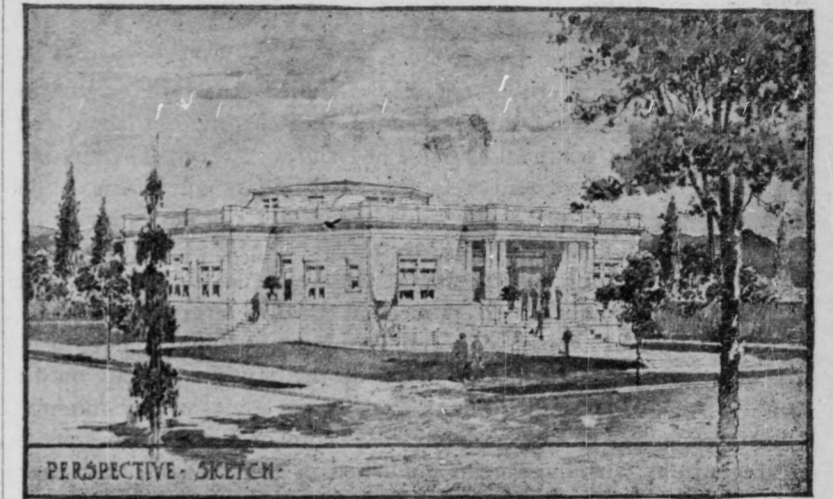

OPENING OF NEW CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCH

FIRST CHURCH OF CHRIST, SCIENTIST, OF GLENDALE, HOLDS INAUGURAL SERVICES AT NEW CHURCH HOME, CORNER SECOND STREET AND MARYLAND AVENUE

When the First Church of Christ, Scientist, of Glendale, gathered Sunday for its customary services, it met in the handsome new church building which has been erected by the congregation at the corner of Second street and Maryland avenue. From this time forward the congregation will meet in this new home, Sundays and Wednesday evenings.

That the new church building is at once a fine specimen of modern much admired, both for the number, which is eight, and for their convenience. They are placed four at each end of the building. The rostrum looked appropriate and the acoustic properties of the building were found to be perfect. It was also a matter of congratulation that the building is so amply lighted. The large central dome and the numerous windows admit ample light. Sunday's services were conducted church building and a convenient home for this progressive and growing congregation was the opinion of the numerous visitors who attended the morning, afternoon and evening services. The congregation themselves also felt that the new church home will be advantageous in many ways and will be the center of a wonderful development.

Everyone admired the spacious interior of the building which with the classrooms opened into the main auditorium is capable of seating 600 people. The classrooms were also by the readers of the church—Mr. A. Russell Kilgore and Mrs. Edna P. Whitten. A number of prominent scientists, including several well-known readers of neighboring congregations, were present.

It was generally agreed that the architect, Arthur L. Acker of Los Angeles, and the contractors, C. M. Retts and W. G. Boyd, of Glendale, had designed and constructed and brought to a successful completion one of the most attractive and suitable Scientist church buildings in the neighborhood of Los Angeles.

COLORADO STREET

The members of the Board of Trustees have their attention directed toward the bettering of the condition of Colorado street. Ever since the construction of this street its condition has been a black eye to the city of Glendale and has worried the city administration to know how to remedy the defective construction. Men who are good judges of road work say that the street cannot be put in good condition permanently without entirely rebuilding it. At the time of the construction of the street the property owners were taxed for what should have been a very good road and now it is unfair to reassess them to make good somebody's neglect at the time of constructing the road. However, all of these questions of the past must be forgotten and steps must be taken to put Colorado boulevard in good condition, as it is used more by the traveling public than any other street Glendale.

THEFT FROM AUTO

Parties who leave their personal belongings in autos standing in the public streets need not be astonished if they find them gone when they come back to use their machine. The practice of leaving overcoats, cloaks, handbags, rugs and other articles in autos is to be discouraged. Yet such is the peculiar constitution of some people that they find it difficult to realize that the temptation to lift such articles is great to a certain class of persons. More than that there is a special class of auto thief who looks after such articles. Such was the experience of H. R. Goodwin of 915 W. Ninth street, Friday. Having left his auto standing at Brand and Central he found when he came back that a green auto rug, edged with tape, had been carried off. He is bewailing his loss and the police are looking for the thief with slim chances of finding him. Thieves of this character come out from Los Angeles and "work" the small towns.

GLENDALE FIRE ROADSTER

One of the attractive little roadsters seen on Glendale streets is owned by Fire Chief A. H. Lankford. It is an Overland and has on the front of the radiator the word "Fire" in white letters on a red background. When Fire Marshal Lankford makes his exit from the fire station with this fast traveling machine it means that all traffic is to make way and give the fire marshal a clear road. Mr. Lankford uses this machine in case of emergency calls.

DECORATE FOR KNIGHTS-TEMPLAR

Beginning Saturday, June 17, the Knights-Templar from all over the United States will be in Los Angeles to hold their triennial conclave. They will be in session for one week. This is an occasion of much interest. The large body of Knights Templar in Los Angeles, Glendale and other local points are specially interested in this great gathering, which will do much to advertise Southern California. Crowds of these knights will be in Glendale. The members of the local commandery who have been in connection with many different commanderies in other states are expecting to have their numerous friends from these commanderies visiting them here. The local commandery approached the city council on the subject of decorating the city, but ascertained that there are no funds available for that purpose. They now urge the merchants of the city and all who are able to decorate their places of business and their houses as far as possible that the city may present a festive appearance on the occasion of the visit of Knights-Templar.

MR. BOOTH'S NARROW ESCAPE

Our townsman, Clinton L. Booth, is in receipt of a copy of the Denver Post, which gives an account of a very narrow escape his brother, W. V. Booth, of Denver, well known here, had from a serious accident while on a drive in the mountains with Mr. Alexander, one of the high officials of Equitable Insurance company of New York, and two ladies. Mr. Booth was driving a Buick touring car and coming to a road that seemed impassable he stopped to make examination when suddenly the ground began to give way beneath the front wheels. Quickly realizing that the only way to have any chance of escape from the car's turning over a high ledge, was to turn the car about and steer it straight down the mountain side, he did so. Some of the occupants jumped from the car just as it began its descent. One lady remained in the car with Mr. Booth. Although the road was an almost perpendicular one and over huge boulders and between shrubbery and trees Mr. Booth so thoroughly controlled his Buick car that he stopped within a few feet of a high precipice, which, if he had gone over, would have been fatal to the occupants of the car. Mr. Booth cannot say too much in praise of the accurate workings of the brakes of his Buick.

WHAT FOREIGN OCCUPATION MEANS

Opponents of preparedness may well take a look at the price that Belgium is paying for having dared when unprepared to stand in the way of a conqueror. The price that gallant nation paid in ruined cities, devastated fields, cathedrals in ruins, women and children murdered, and a general economic ruin is not by any means the full price of conquest. At present the country is wholly under a reign of terror. The cities are full of spies, who indeed are everywhere throughout the land occupied by the invader.

This espionage is one of the most grievous burdens the nation has to pay for its brave maintenance of its own rights and its attempt to protect its cities and fields from the devastation of the invading armies. Life in Belgium is a burden for the Belgians. In the capital conditions are worse. Spies sit in the cafes and frequent the theaters. They are to be found in the church and in the school. Everywhere they are forever listening to conversations and following the people about and making capital of the present conditions.

All that those who have read German at school or college remember of the intolerable conditions under Austrian occupation which the brave Swiss endured until they threw out their conquerors, is true of what takes place in Belgium today. The spy system has reduced the country to the condition of an inferno. The spies who are paid by results and do not get regular salaries are charged with manufacturing information. To be accused by them means arrest and much difficulty at the best. It is likely to mean prolonged imprisonment. It may even mean a firing squad.

This reign of terror is in full swing at present. There is no privacy in the home and no safety in the street. A tap on the shoulder and prison and perhaps death may come at any moment. It is stated in accounts that have leaked out of Brussels in spite of all precautions, and have been published in Amsterdam, that there are 1500 spies in Brussels alone. These creatures live in the very height of style. They occupy the best hotels and apartments. They dine at the best cafes. Whenever their funds run short they go out and hunt up fresh victims.

Women are numerous among these secret agents. They are found all up and down the social scale. It is narrated that a close relative of Gen. Von Bissing, the military governor, took advantage of her social position to keep an eye on the most fashionable functions in the most exclusive residences. Others again belong to the lowest walks of life. The seamstress who goes out by the day or the week is likely to be adding to her income by spying. The woman of the half world, the woman of doubtful reputation, the clergyman's wife—anyone of these may be in the habit of eking out a living by spying for the invaders.

There is now practically no business in the country, but men formerly of good position in the business world take advantage of their former business connections to keep the German authorities posted concerning doings in industrial and financial circles. Even the most ordinary workman is closely watched. This is part of the price that Belgium, with all its bravery, is now paying down every day for having been unprepared to defend its own borders from the invader.

ASIA FOR THE ASIATICS

There can be no doubt that this question of "Asia for the Asiatics" recently revived in Japan is a serious matter as far as the United States and Europe are concerned. A Japanese diplomat is credited with having asked a leading American the other day, "By what right do you Americans proclaim that 'America is for the Americans' and in the same breath deny the right of Asiatics to proclaim 'Asia for the Asiatics'?"

There is logic in the question without doubt and it is significant of changing relations in world power that the Japanese should be reviving this old question and asking it with greater insistence every day. There is no doubt that Japan is getting bolder and more determined in regard to the questions of the East and its relations to the West. If the West had always respected the rights of the East it might have been different; but the West battered its way into China and into Japan. Neither of these nations desired foreign intercourse or foreign trade. The nations of the West forced China to open her doors. The United States opened up Japan and neither nation is forgetful of old incidents.

Japan while recognizing or professing to recognize many obligations of gratitude to the United States for the part this country has played in developing modern conditions there and in introducing Japan to modern institutions, is not forgetful of the restrictions attempted to be placed on Japanese immigration into the United States and particularly into California. It is also true that one-fourth of Japan's foreign commerce is with the United States and Japan is anxious to retain it and to increase it, yet there are questions of national honor of which Japan thinks very much more highly than of foreign trade.

There can be no doubt that the greatest world question that will remain untouched and unsettled after Europe gets through fighting will be the relations of East and West. Japan resents the sentiment of the United States which seems to place her people in an inferior position and regrets it also because she believes that if the two countries, the United States and Japan, were to work together to the end of reconciling and adjusting oriental and occidental differences they might be able to effect more than the rest of the world put together.

It must not be forgotten that Japan has vindicated her right to stand in the very front of the nations, by her victory over Russia. Her constantly improving and homogeneous navy, her marvelous army which is now credited with being of a strength of at least 2,000,000 trained soldiers, 1,000,000 of whom have been trained in actual warfare; her constantly increasing mercantile fleet which comes nearly to hold the hegemony of the Pacific—all entitle her to more than a respectful hearing in the councils of the nations.

MISSION OF THE TREE

And the Tree spake and said:
I am a Tree.
I am the handiwork of the Creator.
I am here by His appointment.
I am for the service of His creatures, especially man.
From man's entrance into the world until his departure out of it, I am his servant and benefactor.
I make the cradle wherein his infancy is rocked, and the staff whereon his age doth lean.

I build the home wherein his loved are sheltered; I make his hearth to glow with cheerful flame. I build his schools and churches, his hospitals and his asylums. I build the places of assembly where he foregathers in fellowship with his kind.
On land and sea man needeth me. I build the ships that sail his seas, the boats that navigate his rivers, the vehicles that traverse his highways. I carry him hither and yon and bring to his door the products of all climes. I build his depots and his barns, his storehouses and his granaries, his marts of commerce and exchange. In all the myriad ways in which lumber is of use I am of service unto man.

I am to man for beauty, shade and shelter; for warmth and coolness; for fresh air and living water; for food and health and wealth and larger life.
That's me—I am a Tree.—Newark Shade Tree Commission.

WOMEN AS CATTLE RAISERS

A class is to be added to the premium list of the State Fair this year for milking shorthorn cattle. It was thought that the shorthorn as a milking breed had been abandoned, but recently two enterprising women down at Suisun, styling themselves by the firm name of Alexander & Kellogg, wrote the State Agricultural Society in regard to entering some specimens of their shorthorn stock in the State Fair in September in the dairy division. These women sent East for a thoroughbred bull and have been improving their stock. For years the shorthorn has been bred only for beef purposes, and the innovation of these women is all the more interesting for that reason.

UNIQUE INDIAN SETTLEMENT

Perhaps the most unique settlement in the United States is the Pueblo Indian village, located in Arizona. This village comprises 1500 peaceable Indians, whose sole and almost only aim in life is to secure a livelihood as easily as possible. This settlement is located in the hottest section of the state, but the excessive heat is not uncomfortable to these people, whose ancestors have lived in that desert section for unnumbered generations.

LEAGUE TO ENFORCE PEACE

Criticism and discussion have assailed the League to Enforce Peace. On the one hand it is said that it goes too far and on the other hand that it does not go far enough. It is said to go too far in that it proposes to us the economic and military force of the United States against any power signatory to the proposed convention which goes to war or commits acts of hostility before submitting its grievance to an international court, if the grievance presents a law question.

On the other hand it is said not to go far enough, because it does not propose to pledge the United States to use force to carry out the decisions of the international court or the recommendation of the council of conciliation. In one quarter, on the other hand, it is ignorantly said that it does propose to use force and again ignorantly it is said to intend to keep the peace of the entire world by repelling attacks of any nation whatsoever on any one of the signatory powers. As a matter of fact, the proposal which is attacked by extremists of both kinds might be supposed to contain the foundation of a really conservative, middle course, which has the advantage both of being practicable and at the same time of furnishing a possible meeting ground for a considerable number of powerful states at the end of the war in Europe.

At all events discussion is of itself of supreme importance. It is time that the world struggled passionately to find some safeguards against the recurrence of such a war as the present. The League may not have hit on the best solution, but it is up to its critics to find a better one. The proposals of the League do not work out and were not intended to work out all the details of combined action. Only a central idea is presented. But no one has a right to pass by on the other side because the League does not attempt to predict the final form of the concert of nations. That will be the work of many minds charged with high responsibility, but no one should fold his hands and ask to be called when the work is done.

In Europe men are killing each other and disabling millions. Who will dare to say that nothing should be done about it or that American humanity has nothing to do with it? Men have learned to suppress violence within nations and must find some way to suppress or to reduce it among nations.

Japan is constantly asserting that she has no desire to interfere in the Philippines, especially at present when her hands are full with the opportunities in China and Korea. In Korea Japan has a tributary country full of natural wealth which she is ready to exploit and is exploiting. In China she has a vast territory occupied by a population that by lack of preparedness has been brought to a condition in which the strongest and readiest outside nation can take hold of it. Japan believes itself to be that country. That, say Japanese statesmen, should convince the United States that it does not desire the Philippines and with that and the immigration question out of the way there is, they say, no reason why they and the United States should not reach some satisfactory conclusion on the question of "Asia for the Asiatics."

TRANSFORMING WHITE SHOES

If last summer's buckskin sport shoes are whole, but rubbed and stained with much play and many cleanings, try an application of one of the new liquid stains and change them to colored shoes. There is a soft gray suede dressing that will turn white shoes into pretty gray ones. They can be made dark blue or bronze, tan or black.

Encourage your friends while they live; do not wait until they are dead, then strew their casket with flowers.

Personals

There was born to Mr. and Mrs. Victor E. Skiles, 1423 W. Third street, a daughter, on Friday, June the 9th.

Mrs. Nicklerl of Bakersfield is a visitor at the home of Mrs. Frank Grosvenor, 1421 Burchett street. She will be here for some time.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur C. Brown and son Meredith of 1301 Milford, in company with Mr. and Mrs. Harold Beeson and little son, Alden, of Whittier, enjoyed a pleasant motor trip to the foot of Mt. Baldy, Sunday, and visited Mrs. Brown's brother, Mr. Robert Chantry.

Mrs. Lauler of 1427 Burchett street, accompanied by her cousin, Edward Gaint, and her brother, Richard Keshishyan, who are here on a visit, motored to Elsinore Sunday to pay a visit to Dr. Lauler's father and mother and to enjoy the excellent hunting, fishing and bathing of that region.

Mrs. Frances Graham and Miss Virginia Graham, of 235 E. Third street, along with Mr. and Mrs. Barlow and Mrs. Barnes, went by auto through the Van Nuys and Lankershim district, Sunday, visiting the old San Fernando mission and Owensmouth and returning by the same route.

Dr. and Mrs. F. H. Kuhns of Los Angeles were dinner guests at the residence of the Rev. R. Warren Mottern and Mrs. Mottern, 340 S. Central avenue. They also attended the Children's day services at the First Lutheran church, Sunday evening. Dr. Kuhns, who is deeply interested in the work of the Lutheran church, was for eight years superintendent of a Sunday school in Pennsylvania.

T. M. Smith, who formerly resided in his home at 728 N. Louise, but recently went to live in La Canada, and was seriously injured in an automobile accident in Pasadena some time ago, is now slowly convalescing. He was so far recovered that he was taken from the hospital in Pasadena this week to the home of Mrs. Smith's sister, Mrs. C. S. Cristy. He will remain there indefinitely, as it will be a long time before he can regain his full strength.

James W. Johnston, who has been visiting relatives and sightseeing in Southern California for some time, left Saturday for his home at Cedar Rapids, Iowa. While here Mr. Johnston was a guest at the home of his brother, Mr. Henry Johnston, 335 Everett street. The two brothers with their sisters, Mrs. W. M. Johnston of Glendale and Mrs. W. R. Reynolds of Los Angeles, enjoyed many happy reunions during Mr. Johnston's visit here. It was interesting to the four to note that their combined ages totalled 280 years, making an average age of 70 years, and all are in good health and happy. Mr. J. W. Johnston is an old railroad man, having been with the Milwaukee & St. Paul for more than forty years.

CABIN ROBBED TWICE

This is the second time within a couple of years that Ralph Benton of a small canyon west of Colina drive, has had his cabin broken into during his absence and a number of articles taken away. There seems little doubt that the work was that of some tramp who had watched the conditions at the cabin until well assured that he could operate in safety. Mr. Benton went to work Thursday in perfect security as to the safety of his cabin, which was well secured, as he thought. The thief, however, waited until the owner was out of the road and then pried off the lock and entered. He got away with two rolls of quilts and blankets, a pair of boots, a wool shirt and a hand satchel. The police are investigating the matter.

TUESDAY AFTERNOON CLUB

The program tomorrow will be given by Miss Pearl Hearndon and will be in two parts. The first part will consist of a collection of five short stories, sketches from recent current literature. The second part will be "The Man on the Curb" by Alfred Sutro. Miss Hearndon comes to the club with excellent recommendations. For the past two or three years she has been appearing before clubs in this capacity and has made six tours of the east on the Lyceum stage. There will be two or three musical numbers tomorrow by Henry Styler, a pupil of Mario Hedigeo.

PARLIAMENTARY SECTION

The Parliamentary section of the Tuesday Afternoon club will meet at 2 p. m. at the Masonic Temple, Tuesday, June 13. Question box.

ABUSE OF MAIL SERVICE

Ray Jacobus, who was for some time employed on a construction gang in connection with the Public Service department of the City of Glendale, and resided in the Central hotel, was arrested this morning at 11:30 by Inspector Walter M. Cookson and United States Deputy Barfet, on a charge of writing obscene letters to various girls and women in this city. The attention of the local postal authorities was called to the fact that letters of this nature were being mailed through the local post office, and R. J. Black, superintendent of the office, took steps to ascertain who was guilty of the offense.

Chief Herald of the local police worked on the case for some time, as also did Patrolman Arrington. Jacobus has been under strict watch for some time past and the net has been gradually woven about him. Numerous addresses of ladies in Glendale were found in his possession. The case against him is complete and he can be sentenced to five years' imprisonment on each separate letter written by him. Jacobus is thirty-one years of age. His father is an inmate of the soldiers' home and he has a brother residing in Tropic.

"PREPARATION SONG"

("Let All the People Sing")
Air, "Hold the Fort"

By SAMUEL PARKER

Glendale, June 14, 1916

Hear the shout of preparation
From an eager host,
Lakes to gulf it wakes the nation,
And from coast to coast;
Read it in those earnest faces
Breathe it in the air,
While around are danger traces Prudence says, "Prepare."

Not for conquest or extension
Do we build the boat,
But for peace and war prevention
Set our fleets afloat;
Lead and iron use for ballast,
Cargoes sent instead;
What the war zones greatly needeth,
Bullets—"Nay"—but bread.

Sword and trowel both were handy
In a land of foes,
Skillful use of each, as needed,
Temple walls arose;
See him place his trusty saber
Where to get it quick,
Thus prepared, he seized his trowel,
Cried, "Bring on the Brick."

Well prepared, lamps trimmed and burning
(Ah, those maids were wise),
See those lamps in the procession
Bright as their own eyes;
Silly sisters not preparing
Soon their lights went out;
Outside favors only, sharing,
Could but frown and pout.
General Order—"Be ye ready!"
Binding everywhere,
Issued by the Great Commander
Simply means "Prepare."
Oh, for mighty preparation
For the reign of peace,
Till in every realm and nation
Wars forever cease.

* One more note for preparation
None need scarce expect
Favor or consideration,
Should they this neglect.
Tho' important may be others,
This excels them all;
Ringing down thro all the ages,
List the prophet's call.

* See Amos 4:12.

CHAPTER L, P. E. O.

Chapter L, P. E. O., will hold an all-day meeting at the home of Mrs. John Pirtle, Verdugo Park, Wednesday, June 14. Cars leave Glendale avenue at 9:35. A full attendance is desired.

TO JOIN WORSTED

When I had knit up one ball of worsted on my afghan, and did not know the best way to join on the worsted of the new ball, an expert showed me the right way to do this. Laying the ends of the worsted side by side, he took a needle and thread and ran them together for two or more inches. I found that as I knit the joining did not show.

CONGRESSMAN RANDALL'S BILL

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 12.—Representative Charles H. Randall of California, a member of the committee on Postoffices and Post Roads, recently introduced a bill which would revolutionize the rates of postage paid by newspapers and magazines. He claims his measure would wipe out the sixty million dollar loss which the postoffice department claims it sustains annually on account of the present rate of one cent per pound. It is further claimed the present system constitutes a rank discrimination against the small weekly and daily newspapers of the country by permitting the big monthlies and weeklies published in large cities to go into the territory of the former on a virtually subsidized basis.

The bill offered by Representative Randall follows:

"Be it enacted by the Senate and the House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled:

"Section 1.—That all newspapers, magazines and other publications regularly admitted to the mails as matter of the second class, shall hereafter be subject to the following rates of postage, the zone system now applying to parcel post matter to be adapted also to second class matter:

"Local, 1st, 2nd and 3rd zone (under 300 miles) 1 cent per pound.
"Fourth zone, 300 to 600 miles, 2 cents per pound.
"Fifth zone, 600 to 1000 miles, 3 cents per pound.
"Sixth zone, 1000 to 1400 miles, 4 cents per pound.
"Seventh zone, 1400 to 1800 miles, 5 cents per pound.
"Eighth zone, over 1800 miles, 6 cents per pound.

"Provided, That free-in-county circulation provided by law shall continue as at present, and provided, further, that no discrimination in rates of postage on account of frequency of issue shall be permitted in the city or town where a publication is mailed or otherwise."

Mr. Randall says "that at present the great bulk of mail being carried distances under second class rates is furnished by the magazine publishers of the large eastern cities. Trainload after trainload of magazines are sent out to all parts of the country, at a cost of one cent a pound, although it has been estimated by postal experts that it costs over eight cents a pound to deliver such literature."

"This, it is claimed, is manifestly unfair to the publishers of newspapers in local territories, who are required to pay the same rate for the transportation of their products."

"Newspapers which should properly represent the territory in which they are published, and carry the advertisements of the nationally advertised products in their territories are seldom considered nowadays in the distribution of big advertising appropriations. The money goes rather to the huge magazine corporations which are growing fabulously rich, and which pay only a fraction of the cost to the government for the service furnished them."

"When it is realized that the publishers of newspapers in the smaller towns and cities scarcely more than break even and make a living from their publications, it is not fair that the government should collect from these huge corporations the cost of the service entailed."

"It is pointed out that if a zone system were to be applied the rate on letter postage could be lowered, the advertising placed in the local newspapers where it belongs, and the big magazines required to share some of their fancy profits with the government, which is now carrying their product at a loss estimated at over $60,000,000 per year, for at the present time the department is losing over $60,000,000 per year on periodical mail, which is offset by a profit of more than that amount from letter mail."

TO WASH AND DRY CUT GLASS

For the spring brides this information, learned by a recent bride, may save time and temper: Wash cut glass with soapuds and do not rinse, but wipe with a good quality Turkish towel. I keep one especially for this purpose. It leaves no lint and gets into the deep cuts as no ordinary towel will do.

GERMAN FLOUR DUMPLINGS

These are made with one egg and one cup of milk. Add salt to taste. Use enough flour so that in working the dough it does not stick to the spoon. Shape with a teaspoon and drop in boiling water which has been salted. Cook until they float. These dumplings are best with meat gravies.

A GERMAN CULINARY PRACTICE

Somehow the Anglo-Saxons have overlooked a good dish which is quite common in Germany. Take several sprays of elder-blossoms and wash them carefully but thoroughly. Then, with any simple pancake batter, bake on your griddle one big pancake, German fashion. When about half baked on one side, thrust a cluster of the elder-flowers directly into the batter, and let it close over them and bake as before, with the short stem sticking up. Turn the cake as usual and when done it may be lifted out by the part of the stem which protrudes. The cakes acquire from the elder, a curiously dainty delicate, and quite unusual flavor.

GLENDALE FOOTHILLS

There were a large number of transient visitors at Casa Verdugo Sunday. These visitors were greatly interested in the scenery and some of them appeared to be interested also in the newly opened up district along N. Sixth street. Among the visitors were Mr. and Mrs. Frank Houser of the Houser Packing company, of Los Angeles. They entertained a party of four.

Mr. Belmont Van Treeth of Honolulu, Hawaiian Islands, entertained a party of eleven at dinner at Casa Verdugo, Sunday.

Miss Viola Yorba and Ernest Martinez, the well-known Spanish dancers of Casa Verdugo, have been engaged to give exhibition dances at the great Knights Templar entertainment at the Shrine Auditorium, Los Angeles, Friday afternoon.

W. E. Hewitt, proprietor of the Glendale laundry, says that the city council of Glendale is deserving of credit for its diligence in repairing the many holes in the asphalt pavement of the streets in the Foothills district and elsewhere throughout the city. Autoists, he says, greatly appreciate the improvements that have been made.

William, the three-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. W. D. McRae, of Dryden street, is quite seriously ill with bronchial-pneumonia. Mr. McRae, who is at present in his work as field secretary of the Y. M. C. A. in Santa Clara district, has been summoned home and will arrive here today.

PAPRIKA SCHNITZEL

This dish may be prepared in a casserole, and served at table in it. Cut one pound of thick veal steak into small pieces; roll in seasoned flour and fry brown in the fat from several slices of salt pork. Remove the meat from the pan and add one tablespoonful of flour to the remaining fat; brown lightly, and pour in gradually the strained liquor from half a can of tomatoes. Add a slice each of onion and carrot, two or three bay leaves, and a bit of mace; then return the meat to the sauce, cover closely, and simmer half an hour. When done, remove the meat; season the sauce with salt and paprika, and strain on to the platter.

RECORD-BREAKING FREIGHT TRAIN

The other day at Blughampton, N. Y., the world's record for a trainload was broken by the new Erie centipede locomotive, which weighs 410 tons and has twenty-four driving wheels. It hauled a train of coal cars fully loaded. The officials in charge kept adding car after car, until 250 were coupled to the train. This total weight of 21,000 tons was drawn by the giant engine a distance of forty miles at a rate of fifteen miles an hour.

ARE THE WHEELS SOUND?

A common sight at a railroad station is a man tapping the wheels of the cars, one after another, with his hammer. His business is to see that the wheels are sound. If one wheel of a car is cracked or injured in any way, the car is rejected. The other wheels may be all right, but the single defective one makes the car unfit to be used. The different parts of our own nature are like the wheels of the car. They must be kept in good order if we are to be safe and happy on the journey of life. Our bodies ought to be as strong and healthy as possible. Our minds need to be trained into full vigor and alertness. By unceasing exercise, the mind must become quick to see and the will resolute to choose the right. And, above all, our spirits must learn to love God and goodness. Are the wheels all right? Be sure they are, for if any one of them is unsound, there is danger of wreck and ruin in your life.—Banks.

LITTLE INFLUENCES

We shall not know the names of all who assist in forwarding great causes, nor shall we be able to estimate with accuracy the contribution that each has made. But what difference does it make? What if the world does not know? He who from a worthy motive strives for a noble cause is not concerned whether others know what he does or speak words of praise; it is sufficient for him that he has done his part and lived up to the opportunities that have come to him.

It takes the work of all to accomplish the total result. A few years ago my wife and I visited the Grand Canyon in Arizona. We went down 4,600 feet from the top of the canyon to where the Colorado river winds its way, and there we saw evidence of the action of the waters through the ages. As we looked upon that stream, I wondered how many drops of water had found their way through that canyon. No arithmetic would enable us to compute them; neither could we tell just what influence each one had had—it was the work of all. And so with every great movement—it is the work, not of one, or a few, but of the multitude. I am glad to be with those who, as a part of the multitude, are working for peace.—W. J. Bryan.

TREES PLANTED BY MACHINE

A machine which plants from 10 to 15 thousand forest tree seedlings a day is now being used at the Letchworth Park Forest and Arboretum, in Wyoming County, N. Y., according to officials of the Forest Service who are acting as advisers in the work. Previously the planting has been done by hand at the rate of 1,200 to 1,500 trees each day per man.

The machine was designed to set out cabbage and tomato plants, but works equally well with trees. It is about the size of an ordinary mowing machine and is operated by three men and two horses. One man drives the team while the other two handle the seedlings. The machine makes a furrow in which the trees are set at any desired distance, and an automatic device indicates where they should be dropped. Two metal-tired wheels push and roll the dirt firmly down around the roots. This is a very desirable feature, it is said, because the trees are apt to die if this is not well done. Two attachments make it possible to place water and fertilizer at the roots of each seedling. Another attachment marks the line on which the next row of trees is to be planted.

No cost figures are available yet, but officials say that the cost will be much less than when the planting is done by hand. It is stated that the machine can be used on any land which has been cleared and is not too rough to plow and harrow.

THIS SOUNDS "FISHY"

The most of the halibut are caught with the hook and line. The fishing, however, has nothing gamy or sporting about it. The lines are dropped down into the sea in such a way that the baited hooks rest on the bed of the ocean. The lines are of great length. Some of them are sixty miles long; when loaded with fish it takes the steam engine on the vessel the better part of a day to wind them up. They are divided into sections, each section having a float or buoy that rests on the surface, and is marked by a flag in the daytime and at night by a light. The line lies right on the bed of the sea. Attached to it are hundreds of hooks and each hook is baited. The halibut swallows the bait and is caught on the hook and held there until the line is drawn up. These fish always feed on or close to the bed of the ocean.

AN EASILY PREPARED DAINTY

Crystallized mint-leaves are easily prepared and delicious to eat. Make a thick boiled syrup of granulated sugar and water. Dip large fresh mint-leaves first in this syrup and then in granulated sugar. Lay them on greased paper to harden. As an after-dinner sweet, a garnish for lamb, an original touch to a salad, or with the fragrant mint-julep, they are attractive and appetizing.

A REFRESHING BEVERAGE

A most refreshing and nourishing drink is made from half a glass of sour cream, half a glass of rich milk and a pinch of salt. Beat together with an egg-beater until light and smooth. Pour into a tall glass, over the top put a thin coating of pulverized nut-meats, and over this a scant grating of nutmeg. Served cold with a couple of crackers, this makes an appetizing light luncheon.

Do not laugh at the hero. In most cases he is simply in the hands of admiring friends and cannot help it.

When they are constantly on the jump to dodge promoters, charitable beggars and bunco steers it is not fair to class 'em "idle rich."

LA CANADA

A District meeting was held at the schoolhouse last week. The trustees being unable to agree on plans set for new building, a District meeting was called to instruct them as to the wishes of the people of the district. Many heated discussions occurred and some of the people expressed their feelings rather plainly. C. B. Anderson gave a very good and plain talk concerning the new building. Mr. Allison of the architectural firm of Allison & Allison, who submitted plans for new building, made a few remarks and read his estimates of cost, etc. The meeting finally instructed the trustees to call for competitive plans and bids for building, etc., the cost not to exceed $20,000 exclusive of furniture and fixtures, $5,000 to be used in furnishing the building and improving the grounds.

There are four young people of our valley graduating this year from G. U. H. S. They are the Misses Katherine Green, Aldine Norton, Clara Armstrong and Mr. Howard Stickney. These young people expect to continue their schooling in a higher institution next year.

The C. E. society is going to give a play in the near future. The date will be announced later, but it will probably be around the first of July. The play is entitled, "The Elopement of Ellen." The cast is as follows: Richard Ford, a devoted young husband Robert Cooper Molly, his wife Miss Rowena Green Robert Shepard, Molly's brother Leo Colburn Max Ten Eyck, a chum of Robert's Robert Horne Dorothy Marsh, engaged to Max, a guest of Mrs. Ford's Miss Clara Armstrong June Haverhall, Wellesley '06, who is doing some special investigation for economics course during the summer Miss Henrietta Horne John Hume, Rector of St. Agnes Edwin Cooper

Mr. Cochran of Los Angeles is occupying the Holmes' tent house on Greely avenue. He will perhaps be here for some time, as he is improving in health since his arrival.

A Pleasant Social Affair

Last Monday night Mr. and Mrs. Fred Johnson were host and hostess to the Monte Vista band and orchestra and a few other guests, at a sumptuous squab dinner with all that accompanies such an affair. This social function occurred at Bolton hall and places were laid for about forty guests. A very delightful time is reported by those who were the recipients of Mr. and Mrs. Johnson's generous hospitality. After the dinner Mr. Earl Sims in a short, appropriate speech expressed the thanks and appreciation of the band and orchestra to these gracious people who are so ready to help in every way needful and who have by their generosity made the building of the Episcopal church a possible and assured accomplishment.

Miss Gregory of the Los Angeles schools expects to spend the week-ends from now to the close of her school in Littlelands, at the home of Miss Gilbert, after which she will probably be here for some time.

Mr. Ingram, who has been living in Littlelands for the past year, has returned to Los Angeles to reside, for the present. He will probably have the experience of others who have gone away. He will be drawn irresistibly by the wonderful atmosphere and beautiful scenery of the valley, to return for permanent residence here.

Miss Terchen, a former teacher of our schools, but now of Los Angeles, came up last week to attend the graduation exercises Thursday evening, returning to the city Friday morning in time for the opening session of her school.

Owing to the next regular meeting of the Woman's club occurring on Flag Day the meeting will be held the Thursday afternoon following.

Town Meeting

As had been announced previously, Prof. Upjohn was present Tuesday evening and delivered his lecture on "Visual Education." The speaker was much interested in the proceedings of the Town meeting, as he had never had the pleasure of attending one before, although he had learned about the New England town meetings from his study of the early history of our country. He is a great advocate of the moving picture because of its wonderful educative influence. Mr. Upjohn says, "Why spend money for that which is not bread. The moving picture is bread. Yes, it may even be manna from heaven in its influences, and that sometimes just for entertainment alone, as well as in its use solely for educative purposes."

"It takes humanity a long time to grasp an idea. The next great idea will be the brotherhood of man. Education teaches the young how to live. In order to train the young it is necessary to teach them what they are and what the world is. Theories seldom work out. We know nothing of hygiene. We know not how bread is converted into blood and bone, but the moving picture can show the process in actual operation."

"Real education is from nature. The test of a teacher is the ability to keep children intelligently employed. Music and sight are the universal language."

Among other interesting things the speaker said he believed the stereoscopic moving picture is a result to be soon accomplished. Americans will demand the best there is in the moving picture. This is the new method of transmitting intelligence and that it far outclasses the legitimate stage. The producers had rather provide good films than a poor or questionable picture. Prof. Upjohn believes there is a time when the films should be used for education and also a time when they should be used for entertainment.

Films make impressions that can never be realized otherwise. Moving pictures will be used as an incentive to induce the young to work, and while they can never take the place of the text book, nevertheless the movies have their important place. There are sociologic and scientific films, geographic and scenic, which go to show that the movies are not exclusively devoted to cheap romance and cheap comedy.

One startling statement made by the speaker that affords much food for thought was that the cost of one sunken ship would provide moving pictures for every school for 140 years. Mr. Upjohn has promised to return some time soon and give an exhibition of moving pictures.

Annual Meeting of Stockholders of Store

Tuesday evening at 7 o'clock occurred the annual meeting of the stockholders of the store. The meeting resulted in the re-election of Mr. Hubbard, Mr. Steen and Mr. B. Clark as directors. On a motion made by G. C. Buck and amended by George Stucher, the directors are authorized to sell the entire outfit, contents, fixtures and real estate if they can do so to the advantage of the stockholders.

Miss Mame McGroudy of Los Angeles was a recent Sunday visitor with Mrs. Van Battum of Monte Vista boulevard. Miss McGroudy and Mrs. Van Battum were associated in the same line of work some years ago at Davenport, Iowa, and the renewal of the old friendship was a great pleasure to both ladies, as well as to the rest of the family of Mrs. Van Battum. Miss McGroudy is the owner of an acre on Pine street and intends to make this place her home in the future.

TO MAKE A TON OF PIG IRON

In a lecture before students of the University of Pittsburgh one day in February, G. D. Chamberlain, of the Carnegie Steel company, said there is needed—for a ton of Pig Iron—4,000 pounds iron ore, 2,000 pounds coke, 1,000 pounds limestone, 8,000 pounds air, 85,000 pounds (10,000 gallons) water.

This combination also produces 1,300 pounds slag and 10,000 pounds gas, which is ten per cent as valuable as ordinary manufactured fuel gas.

WAXED THREAD

The waxed thread which is so popular for sewing table linen, etc., and which is procurable in very few stores, can be easily made at home in the following manner: Remove the paper labels from the ends of your spools of thread; then immerse the spools in hot paraffin wax, where they should be allowed to stay for half an hour, keeping the wax hot during this time. At the end of the thirty minutes take out the spools, and rub them with a soft cloth to remove the superfluous wax. The result will be as nicely waxed thread as can be bought.
